Disability inclusion framework – as easy as ABC

Tim Wood, our Through the Roof CEO, shares why we want to tell everyone about the ABC Journey of Disability Inclusion.

New video!

Remembering Sally

My daughter recently celebrated her birthday and wanted me to build a balloon arch for her party! After blowing up 100 balloons, I realised I had no structure to help keep it upright. I had to get creative and use glue dots, plastic tape and plenty of string to assemble my work of art! It took four hours... Having a ready-made structure would have made it a lot easier.

At Through the Roof we thought providing a ready-made structure might be a helpful tool for churches and everyone on the journey of disability inclusion. So we are sharing a framework – the ABC model – which stands for Access, Belonging and Commission.

Through the Roof have now adopted this ABC model to ensure all our activities help us achieve one or more of the three ABC outcomes, enabling disabled people to be fully involved in God's Kingdom.

The ABC is a simple three-part framework which forms a natural progression to help people think through how to include disabled people. It reflects the fact that disability inclusion in church and Christian life is a journey through different stages.

Stage 1 – Access: For everyone to know Jesus, with disabled people fully welcomed into Christian life.

The focus here is not just on a physical dimension, but ensuring disabled people can access God's love, whether that is physically accessing a building or through having proximity to community and the ability to connect regularly with other Christians. Practical examples to consider include having Blue Badge parking available, level access to activities, accessible toilet, large print and hearing loop system.

Stage 2 – Belonging: For everyone to grow together as the family of God, with disabled people flourishing in community with others.

This looks at disabled people being more fully involved in the family of God and the life of the local church, finding a place of belonging and growing in relationship with God and others. Some practical questions: Are disabled members invited to church activities? Can they be part of small groups? Are they missed by others when they aren't present? Is the culture of the church one of acceptance for who people are, as well as encouraging them to be more fully the person God wants them to be?

Stage 3 – Commission: For everyone to reflect Jesus, with disabled people making disciples, to the glory of God.

Finally, Commission is helping to equip and empower disabled people to use their gifts, skills and testimony to glorify God and share the Gospel.

Practical considerations: Is the church helping disabled people to identify their gifts? Are they providing opportunities to use their gifts? Are disabled people encouraged into positions of responsibility? Are disabled people represented at leadership level in the church?

One of the joys of our role at Through the Roof is that we get to journey alongside other at different stages of this process.

Help your church to take the next step on the ABC journey by downloading our free small group resource available at <https://linktr.ee/TTRresources> and sharing it with others in your church or community.

Katie, our Roofbreaker Team Leader, is a great example of the ABC journey in action.

"I am a Christian and wheelchair user. I have been blessed to encounter Jesus and be part of an active church and Christian community. I have also known times where I have felt isolated and on the edge of community, being very conscious of barriers that exist, both physically and in terms of the different attitudes towards disability within church. From the point where I came to know Jesus, God spoke to me through Psalm 139 which talks about how we are fearfully and wonderfully made. God not only knows and loves us completely but has a unique and specific plan for each one of us.

This has been transformational for me. I am on a journey with God to live out his plan for my life. I started out as a volunteer for TTR and went on a mission trip to Tanzania. Now

Hear more of Katie Mobbs' journey online in her recent interview for the Church Times.

I'm a full-time TTR staff member, with the privilege of enabling more people to access the Gospel and to experience the depth of belonging that comes from knowing God and being known by others in Christian community.

Over the last few years, I have been drawn back to Jesus' instruction to the disciples in Matthew 28:19 (The Great Commission): "Therefore, go and make disciples of all nations."

Jesus calls all people with and without disability to be part of his mission. I am so excited about the ABC journey because I believe that it is a pathway for more disabled people to be released for mission, sharing their gifts and skills to the glory of God. The ABC acronym is easy to remember, so it reminds us of God's 'Great Commission'. It represents an invitation for each and everyone of us – it is the Gospel in action."

Aidan and Jadon's stories

St Julians Baptist Church in Newport South Wales is on the ABC journey. Here, they share the stories of Aidan and Jaydon and how they have accessed church, found belonging in the community and are using their gifts to glorify God.

Aidan Black

Aidan is 28 years old and is autistic. When Aidan joined the church age 10, he had severe global development delay; St Julians provided extra support for him in Sunday School, and they have several people in the church who work with children or adults with special needs. Aidan shares, "I like taking part in services. Sometimes I do a reading... or lead in saying the grace or help serve communion. I was baptised in the church and became a church member. I like communion and going to our worship evenings."

Jadon Greveson

Jadon is 19 years old and has developmental delay and autism. Jadon joined the church with his parents and is an active member of the church. He loves to welcome people and enjoys conversation although his language skills are very limited. Jadon has a gift for giving "timely hugs" and is a great encourager to everyone in our family. Jadon can say the last word of each sentence of the Lord's Prayer which is really amazing to hear. Jadon will often contribute to the meeting with a "Yes", "Amen" and sometimes "Hallelujah".

Empowering International Roofbreakers

International Missions Manager, Shaun Burrows, shares how we're extending the Roofbreaker concept in developing countries.

Nehemiah, pastor of a small local church in rural Uganda, emails our office informing us of the needs in his community. He relates the plight of Jacob, a disabled man at his church, who desperately needs a wheelchair. He mentions how God has used Jacob's need to highlight the desperation of other disabled people in his community, and to call him to those who don't yet know Jesus. Nehemiah finishes by asking us to partner with him.

Pastor Nehemiah's email is just one of several sent to us every week with a similar request.

Like Nehemiah, we want disabled people like Jacob to:

- experience the freedom that the gift of a wheelchair can bring
- come to know Jesus and be welcomed into Christian life
- grow with others in God's family
- reflect God's glory to those around him.

We want to see Jacob and Nehemiah disciple their community together, both rising above their own limitations – getting a wheelchair is just part of the freedom story.

We have a vision to empower local churches in developing countries so they can support disabled people in their communities. To do this, we invite them to become International Roofbreakers – disability champions who break down barriers to full inclusion in church and Christian life.

Local church leaders in Kerala, India, at the recent International Roofbreaker event.

In 2020, during the pandemic, the International Roofbreaker project was launched. We started two networks of Christian leaders in East and West Africa who felt a similar call to Nehemiah to reach disabled people in their communities. This year, we ran our first International Roofbreaker mission trip – to Kerala, India – to lead International Roofbreaker events that support the community and build on the previous year's wheelchair distribution.

When UK Roofbreaker volunteers share stories and experiences with their counterparts in developing countries, it creates an environment with a spirit of collaboration and co-operation. This environment is created by a body of believers who together are on a mission to transform lives with Jesus through disabled people.

“The Roofbreaker event hit him like a sword”

Our recent Roofbreaker trip to Kerala in India had a profound impact on the life of Saroop, who caught the vision for disability inclusion. Mission team leader, Janet, shares his story.

In 2015 while Saroop was a student he experienced an accident in which he was hit by a lorry and experienced a fractured skull. At this time Saroop says he was leading a worldly life, but he began to question, “Why am I here, what should I do?” He prayed and God heard his prayer. He was baptised and then went to Bible college. Saroop's head injury has left him with several difficulties, but he knows that the Lord is with him.

Saroop said that what our team shared at the Roofbreaker event hit him like a sword because he had prayed for God to show him, then he got the vision. He says, “I am a person with disabilities, so I want to minister amongst them, I want to make others comfortable, I want to encourage them.”

Saroop proclaimed: 'I want to dedicate my life and serve disabled people.'

We were told that very often in India, disabled people are separated from the rest of society, and sadly most churches do not include any disabled people at all.

Our six team members from the UK shared about the Biblical basis of valuing and including disabled people, and how this can be done in practice. The message was strengthened by the fact that the team included people who are disabled themselves. Many pastors pledged to change things their churches and reach out to disabled people.

Saroop proclaimed, “I want to dedicate my life and serve disabled people. I have a heavy burden in my heart and I want to do something because of what I have heard from you today. May God's name be glorified.”

Our new Chair's reflections: the journey continues...

Hi. I'm Trevor Hahn and I have been appointed as the new TTR Chair of Trustees. This follows the awfully sad and shocking news that our former Chair – the beloved, Mike Townsend – has died. I decided to remember Mike by continuing in his footsteps and writing a contribution to Vital Link. I serve as a minister in Essex, and on the Board of Through the Roof, and I have three children including a daughter, Elin, who has cerebral palsy and has recently turned 21.

Trevor Hahn has become Chair of the TTR Board.

I knew Mike for a number of years – our relationship beginning when he interviewed me for the role of trustee some years ago. I do remember he asked some tough and probing questions. He was a man passionate about God, and passionate about disabled people, especially about their inclusion and belonging.

Mike tirelessly affirmed disabled people and their roles, gifts, abilities, and place in the church, embodying Through the Roof's mission statement:

Elin, Trevor's daughter, on her 21st birthday.

Remembering Sally

We are deeply saddened to report the death of Trustee, Sally Whitney-Mitchell. She was an amazing young woman, with personal experience of disability, who shared Through the Roof's passion for making a positive difference to the lives of disabled people.

We all valued the perspective and enthusiasm she contributed to Trustee meetings. Her experience of health issues and pain didn't diminish her vibrant Christian faith, but deepened her reliance on God. Her 'celebration of life' service, attended by CEO, Tim, and Trustee, Carol, was a moving but uplifting time and she will be sadly missed.

You can hear Sally speaking on the theme of interdependence on our YouTube channel @ TTRChangesLives.

Sally Whitney-Mitchell, TTR Trustee, who passed away recently.

'Transforming lives through Jesus with disabled people.'

He was a man who broke down and broke through barriers, and if nothing else, he taught me that 'nothing is impossible for those who believe'. Mike was a 'Roofbreaker' in every sense of the word. His wisdom, experience and godly, sacrificial service will be sorely missed.

The Apostle Paul in Romans says: 'Therefore, I urge you, brothers [and sisters], in view of God's mercy, to offer your bodies as living sacrifices, holy and pleasing to God – this is your spiritual act of worship. Do not conform any longer to the pattern of this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind.'

Mike was certainly one who offered his body, his life, energy, strength, and enormous experience in service to so many, including Through the Roof; I am sure he saw this as part of his calling, his spiritual act of worship.

Through Mike's ministry, witness and life, my understanding of disabled people has been expanded and deepened – for which I will be forever grateful to him. That is just one small part of the enormous legacy he leaves behind.

Although I will never be able to fill Mike's shoes, or take his place, I pray I may follow his example of dedicated service. I hope to passionately work in collaboration with all the Through the Roof community: employees, trustees, volunteers, donors, overseas partners and supporters, to continue the work, and see many more lives transformed through Jesus with disabled people. The journey continues...

Ways to encourage and support disabled parents

In partnership with Church of Scotland pioneer project 'Reachout Together', we hosted an online event exploring how Christians can support disabled parents in our churches and communities.

Five guest speakers shared their experiences as to what it is like being a disabled parent. Their stories were so powerful, moving and at times, heartbreaking. They shared the difficult moments in their journey as parents, and the social stigma and prejudices that they encounter. They shared the high points of their journey and funny stories. Throughout all the speakers talks was their powerful testimony of how they had experienced God, how they held on to Him even in the darkest hours of their lives, including the times they had felt Him draw close and speak to them.

There was so much to learn from listening to our wonderful speakers but here are a few key themes for us to take away and learn from.

Build friendships. A common theme in all the stories from disabled parents was how they were the ones constantly reaching out to people, inviting them to dinner, outings, etc. We can do more than just welcome disabled people: we can become friends. Reach out and invite them in.

Bless each other. We are all part of God's family and disabled parents have things to bring to bless us all. We can all give and receive on an equal basis with one another. Bless each other. Get shopping for each other, take it in turns to take the children to school, have each other over for coffee! Let us all be a blessing to one another.

Celebrate and share each other's gifts. Every person has God given gifts, and each of our speakers shared how God has called and enabled them to use their gifts. Encourage, support and empower disabled people to use and share their gifts in your church community.

Welcome to Carol!

Hi, I'm Carol, and I would like to say how excited I am to be able to serve Through the Roof as the new Roofbreaker Regional Co-ordinator covering the east and south-east of England.

My background has been working with children with disabilities and special educational needs in a school setting. I currently work in a special needs school with particular responsibilities of providing hydrotherapy for the children.

I have a deep passion for serving Jesus and serving both children and adults with special needs. I love the fact that I can do both of these in this exciting role as a Regional Roofbreaker Co-ordinator.

I have had the privilege of having been able to serve as a pastor on four Wheels for the World trips to Kenya and Uganda, where I have been able to open up God's Word and help us see how we are all special to God.

I look forward to getting to know many of you as we serve Jesus together.

Together...

'Together' is the newly adopted name for Through the Roof's holiday, online and in-person retreat activities which offers a sense of cohesion and belonging, whilst encapsulating the fellowship aspect of both TTR and DCF. There is now a single email address for all these activities: together@throughtheroof.org. The name 'Together' is inviting, as well as simplifying and centralising how our guests/ attendees could contact us.

It seemed a natural progression to develop 'Together' as an umbrella title for the various aspects of the programmes giving us 'Together on Holiday'; 'Together in The Lounge'; 'Together on Retreat' and 'Together at Home.' Such a simple change has linked the activities, as well as naturally creating/suggesting a sense of fellowship for those who join the activity. The 'Together' activities reflect the heart of fellowship that is so central to what we do, and complements the ministry of the Disabled Christian Fellowship (DCF).

Together on Holiday

After last year's successful holiday, we are returning for an activity holiday at Calvert Trust, Exmoor, Devon which runs from 24th to 28th June 2024. The venue is specifically designed to provide accessible activities, not only for those with a disability but for their family and friends as well. The centre organises a programme of activities for us which includes things like archery, accessible bike riding, canoeing, abseiling and a visit to the stables. The site also offers beautiful scenery in the 44 acres of land, set on the edge of Exmoor National Park. The holiday package includes full board accommodation, all the activities, as well as a daily time of spiritual reflection. Please share this information with anyone you know who may be interested. Email our address below for a booking form, or search for Calvert Trust on our website.

Together in The Lounge

The Lounge could best be described as an online opportunity to get together and have a cuppa. It is a good way to get to connect with others who have experience of disability and get to know them. At the end of each session, we have a short 5-to-10 minute devotional. We run the sessions every few months, usually on a Tuesday from 2 to 3 pm. To find out more, please search for The Lounge on our website or email our address below. It would be lovely to have you join us.

Together at Home

Together at home is our recently developed online home group held on the first and third Thursdays of each month between 2 to 3 pm. This group offers attendees prayer, care and the opportunity to share with one another. We are blessed to have Anne and Alex Paton hosting, as they have personal experience of disability and a wealth of pastoral gifting between them. The group has been meeting since late 2023 and is gelling together and growing. Please email our address below to find out more or to get the link for group meetings.

Together on Retreat

Following the successful online retreat before Christmas last year, we've been blessed to welcome speaker Emily Owen to lead another online retreat. It was held in the week beginning Monday 18th March, this time with a focus on the events and journeys leading up to Easter. The theme is 'Following Jesus' along the difficult path He trod to the garden, the cross, and the tomb – before rejoicing with the disciples at the wonder of His resurrection. For more on this retreat, visit our Facebook page @TTRChangesLives.

If you would like more information or to sign up for any of the Together events, please do email us at together@throughtheroof.org. We look forward to having you join us.

Understanding autistic meltdowns and shutdowns

We are delighted to announce the release of a new video: 'Understanding autistic meltdowns and shutdowns'. You can find the video at <https://youtu.be/aDD8-exFb-s> (or search for 'Autistic meltdowns and shutdowns' on YouTube @TTRChangesLives).

It is the second in a series of videos about autism and neurodiversity made by Triona Brading, a young autistic Christian. Her first video, 'Supporting Autistic Individuals in our Churches', has received nearly 800 views on YouTube!

In this new video, Triona explains the difference between a meltdown and a shutdown, which are two different types of physical and emotional response an autistic person may have to feeling overwhelmed.

A meltdown is an outward response, that often involves shouting and movement; a shutdown is an inward response, that involves shutting yourself away and closing down communication.

Triona gives useful tips on how to prepare in advance for meltdowns and shutdowns, talking to autistic individuals before anything happens about what support or help they may want. It also covers what you could do if a person is already having a meltdown or shutdown – including the importance of reducing sensory input or demands on the person involved.

Please do watch Triona's video and click 'like' if you find it useful. This will encourage social media platforms to share the video even more widely.

We want to encourage churches, ministries and Christians to grow in understanding and be able to fully include and support autistic and neurodivergent people.

Hear the word of God

Jerome lives in Kerala, India and is thrilled by the solar-powered audio Bible he received from our team recently in addition to a wheelchair. Jerome is 51 and has been disabled since birth – a disability that affects both of his legs and one of his hands.

These amazing audio Bibles mean that the word of God can be listened to in the local language by people who otherwise may not be able to read a printed Bible due to disability or lack of education.

Jerome regularly listens to his audio Bible. When asked what his favourite part of the Bible is, he replied, "The sacrifice of Jesus for the sins we have done." Jerome told us that one of the best things about the audio Bible is, "It is not only me who hears the message – I am able to share with others too. Others are also able to hear the message with me." As Jerome listens to the Bible, he says that 3 or 4 others also hear the Scriptures.

Jerome is extremely grateful. Thanks to his new wheelchair, Jerome is also able to go out, and he goes to church every Sunday and plays instruments at church. He tries to encourage others. He says he is happy with who he is, he is not complaining. He is using his ability to encourage others. He says, "When the judgement comes, if God asks me what I did on the earth, I can say that I have done these things."

Could you help others like Jerome to hear the Word of God by using our donation form (enclosed) to sponsor an audio Bible for £21?

Jerome is blessed and blesses others while listening to his audio Bible.

Ask and you shall receive

A United Reformed church in Cambridge showed that fundraising doesn't have to be complicated, raising over £2000 for Through the Roof. Downing Place URC Cambridge, nominated TTR as a Special Cause for one month and simply invited the congregation to donate what they could that month. Matthew 7:77 tells us to "Ask and it will be given to you", and God will provide. He certainly did!

Members of the church responded generously to the invitation, which was printed in the church newsletter, along with information about the work of TTR in the UK and overseas. There was also a collection plate at the door at the end of their carol service in 2023, for a retiring collection in aid of TTR, with a representative of Through the Roof there to thank people. So we know that small requests can make a big difference in transforming lives!

The gifts of money the congregation have generated will bring freedom to many people living with disability, providing mobility equipment in developing countries, and changing attitudes world-wide, so disabled people are valued and able to use their own gifts and abilities to bless their communities.

We are so grateful for the generosity of those who donate to TTR, and also to those who give their time to support the work. Fundraising has three blessings – it blesses the giver, it raises money, and it spreads awareness of what God is doing through TTR. We pray that God will give us the boldness to 'just ask' and invite you to join us on this journey of disability inclusion.

All About Wheels

80 million disabled people worldwide need a wheelchair (World Health Organisation). Most of these people don't have the money or opportunity to buy one. Wheels for the World, an overseas project of Through the Roof, restores and distributes previously-used wheelchairs to people in developing countries, giving disabled clients increased independence and demonstrating the love of God in a practical way.
